Volunteer Role Description: Nant Caerau Sunflower plant

Project details: The primary school at Nant Caerau has a small sensory garden for the children. It consists of a large tree, surrounded by grass and several flowers. The children have created and hung several pieces of art along the tree branches. The project is looking at planting up some sunflowers around the grass near the tree and alongside railings as to be viewed from the street. The reason behind this is to commemorate the passing of the beloved headteacher Mr Jones, to facilitate the grieving process for both the children and the young people.

The volunteer will help to dig over the area in preparation of the plant, the dig will be done during half-term. We are looking for volunteers who would enjoy being outdoors, and supporting the wellbeing of the community. Previous gardening experience isn't necessary. Refreshments will be provided.
